DR GOH KENG SWEE (GKS) SCHOLARSHIP

General

The Dr Goh Keng Swee (GKS) Scholarship Fund was set up by the financial community in Singapore in honour of the former Deputy Prime Minister, who fostered Singapore's economic development and growth as a reputable international financial centre. The Dr GKS Scholarship is a private sector scholarship administered by the Association of Banks in Singapore (ABS). Each year, 3 to 4 scholarships are awarded to outstanding individuals from 15 Asia Pacific economies (Brunei, Cambodia, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Philippines, PRC, Taiwan, Vietnam, Thailand, Laos and Myanmar) to pursue undergraduate studies at local universities in Singapore (i.e., National University of Singapore, Nanyang Technological University and Singapore Management University). The course of study should preferably be relevant to the financial sector.

Eligibility

The Scholarship is open to students from Brunei, Cambodia, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Philippines, PRC, Taiwan, Vietnam, Thailand, Laos and Myanmar. Singapore citizens and PRs are not eligible to apply for the Dr GKS Scholarship.

The Dr GKS Scholarship is highly selective. Applicants should fulfil the following criteria:

- (a) Concurrently apply for admission to NUS, NTU or SMU for their course of study. Applicants should adhere to the universities admission deadlines and guidelines;
- (b) Demonstrate leadership qualities and possess good co-curricular activities (CCA) records;
- (c) Be a citizen/passport holder of the target Asia Pacific economies;
- (d) Make private arrangements to sit for the required university admission tests (e.g., SAT and TOEFL), and
- (e) Preferably be below 25 years of age.

Duration and Terms of Award

The scholarship supports a maximum of 4 years of undergraduate study (including Honours). It provides the following:

- (a) Tuition and other compulsory fees;
- (b) Airfare (to Singapore and return to home country upon completion of study);
- (c) Annual maintenance allowance of SGD$6500;

(d) Hostel allowance based on institution of study; and

(e) Settling-in allowance (one-off expense) of SGD$200 upon arrival in Singapore.

The scholarship award will be reviewed annually and is subjected to satisfactory performance and academic results.

Scholarship Bond

Successful candidates will be required to work for 3 years upon the completion of their studies in either:

- (1) an approved company in Singapore; or
- (2) an approved Singapore-based company in their home country

The deployment of scholars to serve their bonds will be determined by the Dr Goh Keng Swee Scholarship Fund.

The National Info-comm Scholarship offers you more than one route to becoming an info-comm leader. If you seek a scholarship that offers you greater choice, scope and flexibility during your course of study, NIS is the one for you. With 3 scholarship categories, each brimming with possibilities, you can carve a unique and exciting route to becoming an info-comm leader.

Programme Description

With the National Info-comm Scholarship, there's more than one route to becoming an info-comm leader.

If you seek a scholarship that offers you greater choice, scope and flexibility during your course of study, NIS is the one for you. With 3 scholarship categories, each brimming with possibilities, you can carve a unique and exciting route to becoming an info-comm leader.

The 3 scholarship categories are:

- Full Scholarship: Enables you to pursue a Bachelor degree at top overseas or local universities. Scholars with outstanding results will be further sponsored for a one year local post-graduate study.*

(*application for postgraduate study is subject to the approval of the participating organization and IDA)

- Partial Scholarship: Awarded to outstanding 3rd year local undergraduates pursuing an info-comm related degree at the National University of Singapore (NUS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore Institute of Technology (SIT), Singapore Management University (SMU) or Singapore University of Technology and Design (SUTD) and moving on to their final year of studies.
- Flagship Info-comm Master's Scholarship: Awarded to outstanding "A" level and Polytechnic students who will pursue one of the Flagship Infocomm Master's programmes below:

- SUM-Carnegie Mellon Fast Track Programme;
- NUS-Carnegie Mellon Entertainment Technology Center (ETC) Programme in Interactive Digital

Media;

c. NUT-Georgia Institute of Technology Integrated Programmes;

d. NUS and Brown University (BROWN) in Computational Biology; or

e. NUS and Cambridge University in Information System and Management.

View more details on the Flagship Info-comm Master's Scholarship programmes.

All the above scholarships come with up to 6 months of overseas work attachment with the sponsoring organization.

Talent Management Programme

From 2008, the NIS Talent Management Programme (or TMP for short) has been further strengthened. The aim of the TMP is to ensure that the scholars are plugged into the latest info-comm developments and have the opportunities to upgrade themselves with industry-relevant skills while they are studying. Under this programme, the scholars could choose to attend development courses, besides the NIS education, to enhance their professional capabilities. IDA is committed to sponsoring up to S$7,000 for each scholar till 2013. The development courses seek to provide vendor-specific expertise, business domain knowledge, client management, business communication and soft skills. Specific examples include:

- ITIL V3 Foundation;
- Microsoft Certified Application Developer (MCAD);
- Microsoft Certified IT Professional (MCITP): Database Administrator;
- Red Hat Certified Engineer; and
- Sun Certified Java Developer.

Service Science, Management and Engineering (SSME) Programme

The SSME programme was developed by IBM to integrate multiple disciplines such as computer science, engineering, management and operations research, and educates students in a strong mix of technical, business and people skills. Students of SSME will learn to design and implement industry applications in multiple disciplines. This will help to address the need among organizations and businesses for multi-disciplinary info-comm professionals, thereby helping them to create competitive advantages in service delivery through the use of info-comm technology.

For a start, IBM will collaborate with Institutes of Higher Learning to integrate SSME into the undergraduate curricula of the university faculties as follows:

- NTU School of Computer Engineering - Bachelor of Engineering(Computer Science/Computer Engineering);

- NUS School of Computing - Bachelor of Computing (Computer Science/Information Systems); and
- SMU School of Information Systems - Bachelor of Science (Information Systems Management).

NUS School of Computing will also be introducing a SSME specialization in the undergraduate degree programme and will explore joint research opportunities on service science.

In addition, SMU's School of Information Systems will offer SSME as a specialization track. More information on the specialization track can be found at www.sis.smu.edu.sg/programme/SSME/se_ssme.asp.

NTU's School of Computer Engineering is also looking into the possibility of offering SSME as one of its specializations.

The collaboration aims to develop a new breed of service scientists and service entrepreneurs who understand service systems, are trained to enable efficient and systematic approaches to service delivery, and serve as catalysts for service innovation in organizations and for various industry sectors.

SSME-trained graduates will likely enter the workforce as solution designers, consultants, engineers, scientists, and managers. After gaining practical experience across multiple industry sectors and with rapidly evolving technology tools and solutions that transform businesses and institutions, they will then go on to be successful entrepreneurs, executives, researchers, and practitioners, with a solid grounding in theory and best practices in designing high-value service solutions.

To catalyze the development of multi-disciplinary professionals through info-comm and service science, IDA, together with Avaya Singapore Pte Ltd, DBS Bank Ltd, IBM Singapore, NCS and Singapore Telecommunications Ltd are sponsoring students who are keen to pursue info-comm and SSME-related courses through the National Info-comm Scholarship (NIS). The Scholarship aims to identify and nurture a group of talented students for a career in info-comm. The six organizations will sponsor up to 38 scholarships for 2008.

For more information on the IBM SSME Initiative, visit: www.ibm.com/university/ssme.

Info-comm Security Specialization

In a digital global economy, information assets are becoming as important as, if not more important than, physical assets. As cyber threats such as malware, hackers and cyber criminals become more sophisticated, info-comm security is now an evolving challenge. The right info-comm security professional is needed to help businesses and organizations mitigate the risks from cyber threats - a professional that is grounded in the sound principles of info-comm solutions and who also has the acumen to maintain a delicate balance between security and business needs.

In Singapore, info-comm security professionals are high in demand. The Government has driven the implementation of two Info-comm Security Master-plans to enhance Singapore's position as a secure and trusted hub, and Singapore was ranked 1st out of 55 economies in the 2008 IMD World

Competitiveness Yearbook survey for the degree to which cyber security is being addressed by corporations.

The NIS for Info-comm Security programme will allow scholars to pursue their university studies in the area of info-comm security. Upon graduation, scholars will work as an info-comm security professional with our designated NIS partners.

Below is a list of renowned universities which offer info-comm security degrees:

List of recommended universities

- Carnegie Mellon University;
- Georgia Institute of Technology;
- Purdue University;
- University of California, Davis;
- Cambridge University; and
- Royal Holloway, University of London.

Benefits

With the National Info-comm Scholarship, great benefits await you en route to becoming an info-comm leader.

- Local and overseas job attachments with the best in the industry

You will have the opportunity to understudy with leading info-comm companies and info-comm user organizations, and be at the forefront of the latest industry developments. What's more, a 6-month attachment to a participating company at its overseas office will help you gain a wider exposure to different working cultures and a broader perspective of the industry. These experiences will prove invaluable as you begin your journey as an info-comm professional, poised to make a difference in the info-comm world.

- Job placements with leading companies to put you on course to becoming an info-comm leader

There is no better way to kick-start your journey than with the best in the business. You'll learn the finer points of leadership from the captains of industry, and eventually become one yourself. Every day will be an opportunity to shape the future.

- Fast track double degree programmes with local and reputable overseas universities

The NIS's fast track and integrated scholarship programmes will give you the chance to study at top overseas universities like Carnegie Mellon University and Georgia Institute of Technology and also allows you to acquire two prestigious degrees i.e. Bachelor and Master in the time it takes to get one.

- Short bond period to give you greater freedom in charting your career path

A short bond period of 4 to 5 years maximum means that you will have the freedom to seek fresh challenges and realize your untapped potential. After all, being an info-comm leader will open up many doors, where universes of opportunities await.

Programme Support

NIS offers extensive programme support during your course of study:

- Tuition and other compulsory university fees
- Annual allowance
